1 This represents the overall proficiency score for the assessment administration.

2 Speaking, writing, listening, and reading domain test scores are used to determine the overall proficiency score.

Students must receive all 4s on the domain scores (speaking, writing, listening, and reading) to be considered proficient.

3 Progress toward proficiency is determined for each student who did not score proficient.

Domain scores for the current year’s KELPA assessment are compared to the previous year’s KELPA assessment. Students may earn either Satisfactory Progress or Progress Not Demonstrated according to the comparison of the domain scores. For further information speak with your child’s teacher.

This report shows and explains the student’s performance on the Kansas English Language Proficiency Assessment (KELPA). The KELPA measures growth in English language proficiency to ensure all English learners (ELs) are prepared for academic success. This report provides performance levels on each domain tested: speaking, writing, listening, and reading, as well as an overall proficiency determination. These results are used by the teachers, the school, and the school district in planning the student’s level of support and participation in the EL program.

When interpreting student progress toward proficiency on the KELPA, please take into consideration how the conditions for learning, which may have been disrupted by the pandemic, may influence performance.

1–Not proficient: Students who are not yet proficient have not attained a level of English language skill necessary to produce, interpret, and collaborate on grade-level, content-related academic tasks in English. This is indicated by attaining performance levels of Beginning and Early Intermediate in all four domains. Students who are not proficient are eligible for ongoing program support.

2–Nearly Proficient: Students are nearly proficient when they approach a level of English language skill necessary to produce, interpret, and collaborate on grade-level, content-related academic tasks in English. This is indicated by attaining performance levels with above Early Intermediate that does not meet the requirements to be proficient. Nearly proficient students are eligible for ongoing program support.

3–Proficient: Students are proficient when they attain a level of English language skill necessary to independently produce, interpret, collaborate on, and succeed in grade-level, content-related academic tasks in English. This is indicated by attaining performance level of Early Advanced in all domains.
